WORLD'S FAIR TOPICS

Failure of the Chemical Bank

MAKES FOREIGNERS TROUBLE

The Work on Many of the Buildings Far Behind the Desired Time.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Since the day the President opened the fair there has been no day when the attendance was larger and the weather more propitious, and the actual figures far surpass any previous day.

THE CHEMICAL FAILURE.

The failure of the Chemical bank was the principal topic discussed among the exhibitors. Most of the foreigners had deposited money with the bank, and their letters of credit were honored at that institution. As soon as it became generally known that the bank had closed its doors a crowd gathered and waited patiently for the appearance of Cashier Broughton. That gentleman did not put in an appearance, having been summoned down town to consult with the officials of the bank.

Considerable excitement prevailed for a time, but things quieted down when it was stated that the bank expected to pay in full.

Some of the depositors refused to be comforted, as a great many of them from out of town had no means to replenish their exchequer at short notice.

WILL INVESTIGATE.

At a meeting of the national commission this afternoon the matter was brought up by Commissioner Gannon of Oklahoma, who offered a resolution reciting the facts of the failure, and asking for the appointment of a committee to investigate the matter, and report as to the advisability of permitting the bank to resume business on the grounds.

Several dissenting voices were heard to the effect that the commissioners had no right to investigate the affairs of the bank, but an equal number were positive it had. After a lengthy debate the resolution was adopted and a committee appointed.

SLOW WORK.

Reports from the committee on work on different buildings was received at a meeting of the committee.

The report of the committee on live stock was not encouraging. The grounds and buildings of this department are not ready, though the chief of the department thinks there is ample time and that he will have all in readiness by the time they are needed. According to the report not a single exhibitor is yet in attendance, nor are there any exhibits. The date of entry for horses and cattle is therefore changed from June 15th to July 15th, and for sheep from July 1st to August 1st.

The mines and mining exhibit is probably the most advanced on the grounds.

The committee on forestry reports a most deplorable condition of affairs in that department. Chairman St. Clair stated that no one competent to have charge of that interesting exhibit had been appointed. The building and grounds were in an out-of-the-way place, and no roadway had been made to them. There was otherwise a deplorable lack of proper management in the forestry division. St. Clair laid the matter before the commission in such a vigorous manner that a motion was immediately made fixing the time for consideration.

The report on the electrical department showed work there as being very backward.

Conductors in Session.

TOLEDO, May 9.—About 1500 delegates are attending the biennial session of the Order of Railroad Conductors, including their wives, who have organized what is known as a ladies' auxiliary. Governor McKinley, who came from Columbus expressly to make the conductors welcome to the state of Ohio, received an ovation. His 20-minute speech was largely devoted to a review of the growth of the railway system of the United States. Grand Chief Conductor Clark replied in fitting words. Other addresses followed. After adjournment Governor McKinley and the grand officers were entertained at a luncheon by Mayor Major. This afternoon the real work of the convention began in secret session.

Lynched for Murder.

CAMDEN, Ark., May 9.—Three negroes were lynched at Borden early this morning for a murderous assault made Saturday on Jerre Norman, a prominent young business man. Norman died from wounds inflicted with an axe upon his head as he returned home from his store at midnight. The mob, consisting of 300, were sure that they had the right parties, as the pocket book and other personal effects of Norman's were found upon them. The purpose of the assassins was robbery and murder. The negroes were taken from the officers between midnight and dawn. They begged for mercy but none was shown.

Warner's Failures.

NEW YORK, May 9.—H. H. Warner's attorney says that Warner's liabilities will amount to several hundred thousand dollars, and business men estimate them at $500,000. His assets consist of his interest in H. H. Warner's company of London, H. H. Warner's company of Rochester, the Industrial and Mining Guarantee company of New York and other companies. Warner's homestead and other pieces of real estate are under mortgage of $1,000,000 to the board of Monroe county.

Received a Compliment.

PARIS, May 9.—F. R. Coudert, of counsel for the United States, continued his argument before the Behring sea tribunal arbitration. When Coudert finished his speech Baron de Courcel, president of the tribunal, said to him: "We thank you for the great ability, liveliness and humor with which you carried us over what would otherwise have been a rather dreary field of questions and facts."

At the Bay District.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Five-eighths of a mile—North 1, Glenn 2, Mount Carlos 3. Time, 1.02½.

Three-fourths of a mile—Francesca 1, Connaught 2, Angelo 3. Time, 1.17.

One mile—Motto 1, Joe Cotton 2, Bread Church 3. Time, 1.42¾.

Nine-sixteenths of a mile—Tillie S 1, Pataski 2, Button 3. Time, .56¾.

Six furlongs—Green Hock 1, Huguenot 2, Red Light 3. Time, 1.16.

DOES NOT LIKE IT.

Emperor William Incensed at the Reichstag.

BERLIN, May 9. — While reviewing troops in the field at Tempefer today the German Emperor ordered the principal officers of the imperial government to gather around him, and addressed them as follows:

"I have been seriously disappointed in the patriotism of the late reichstag. I hope the coming reichstag will adopt the military bill, but if it should refuse to adopt it, I have determined to carry the bill into effect despite the unpatriotic opposition."

The speech is causing enormous excitement among the people. It appears in the North German Universal Gazette in double leaded prominence. Those who heard the Emperor say he spoke with unusual emphasis, pausing at every word in order to convey a sense of his determination by his declarations.

There is a profound and widespread impression that the Emperor would not hesitate to risk a conflict with the new reichstag should it prove hostile to the bill.

The Emperor's concluding words in addressing the officers were, "I felt the necessity of telling you candidly of my decision as I told you my hopes when the bill was first proposed."

The officers maintained absolute silence, although evidently in deep sympathy with the Kaiser's views. Leading men in German politics who have heard the Emperor's speech now consider that he has embarked on the policy of Prussian high tourism, and that the chances of the Freisinnige party to bring about a moderate liberal era have vanished.

Davis' Remains.

RICHMOND, May 9.—Arrangements for the reinterment of the remains of Jefferson Davis in Hollywood cemetery on May 31st have been completed. On the 28th Governor Foster, in a brief address, will commit the remains to an escort and a special train will leave New Orleans that night. The funeral train will reach Montgomery, Ala., Monday morning, and the body will be conveyed to the capitol and placed on the front portico, where Davis took the oath as President of the Confederacy. The next stop will be at Atlanta the same afternoon, where there will be a procession and address at the capitol building. There will be a brief stop at Greenville, N. C. At Raleigh elaborate preparations are being made for a mammoth celebration, with addresses and other exercises at the capitol. The train will reach here at 11 o'clock the night of May 30th. The body will be escorted by the military to the capitol building and lie in state till the next afternoon. The interment will take place the next afternoon. Mrs. Davis and her two daughters will be present.

INNOCENT.

THE LAST STATEMENT OF CARLYLE W. HARRIS,

Who Was Electrocuted Yesterday for the Supposed Poisoning of His Wife.

ALBANY, May 9. The remains of Carlyle W. Harris were buried in a cemetery here this afternoon. After the burial Harris' last statement, sent by the warden to the prison department of the state, was given out. Among other things he says, regarding the refusal of executive clemency:

"The action of the court was not justified by the facts in the case, and hence public outcry must be silenced by a seeming justification of the court outside of the facts. There is an idea in the minds of many that at the time of my wife's death I desired marriage with some other woman. Such person was never found, nor does she exist. No one had so many reasons, all sentiment or love aside, for desiring my wife to live as I had. She would have brought me money and professional success. She would have graced my home, and had I known of her sad habit it would have been my happiness to shield and cure her.

"May God in His mercy bless and guard those I leave behind and I leave them in peace.

"Now face to face with the greatest mystery known to man, knowing no concealment or untruth can mitigate my end, I do solemnly declare I am innocent of the crime for which I am condemned to die. CARLYLE W. HARRIS."

There were private funeral services held over the body of Carlyle Harris in the prison at Sing Sing this morning, at which only the mother and brother attended. A dramatic incident in connection with the service was the dropping into the coffin, in accordance with Harris' directions, of an affidavit by one of the jurors in the case on an application for a new trial. After the services the body was put on board the train for Northfield, Mass., where the burial will occur.

More Rate Cutting.

OMAHA, May 9.—The Union Pacific today took a hand in the Colorado rate war by issuing an order to sell tickets from Utah common points to Colorado common points for $13, and for round trip $26. The prevailing rates have been $25 and $35.

HAWAIIAN MINISTER

Commissioner Blount Succeeds Mr. Stevens

AS MINISTER TO THE ISLANDS

Several Officials Who Favored Annexation Are Requested to Resign.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Officials of the state department tonight confirm the predictions heretofore made that ex-Representative Blount would be appointed minister resident to Hawaii. It has been supposed that Minister Stevens would remain in charge of the legation until the 24th of this month, at which time he announced his intention of sailing for San Francisco.

It is now known that Stevens was instructed to forthwith turn over the legation to Commissioner Blount, who had been appointed his successor.

There is reason to believe that Stevens was not allowed to remain in charge of the legation until the 24th instant, because of his activity in behalf of annexation.

It is further stated at the department that Bowen and Sewall, who went to Honolulu shortly after Commissioner Blount's arrival, were active in their efforts to stimulate sentiment on the islands in favor of annexation, and there is reason to believe they sought to create an impression in so doing that they were representing the President, but Secretary Gresham has informed Blount that the President repudiates everything said and done by these gentlemen.

It will be remembered that Sewall was an applicant for the position of third assistant secretary of state under the present administration, but failed to secure the appointment.

A GREAT RELIEF.

The President's Ultimatum Pleasing to Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—One of the effects of the President's order closing the executive mansion to office seekers, has been a change of the point of attack from the President to cabinet officers and a perceptible increase in the number of callers at each department, and a good deal of time is consumed in their reception.

It is predicted that if this continues all members of the cabinet will adopt a precisely similar rule to that of the President.

The hour between 10 o'clock and the time for the assembling of the cabinet was devoted by the President this morning to interviews with senators and representatives. Unlike former days the dignitaries came alone, and without exception congressmen were delighted with the President's new rule, and expressed themselves accordingly.

His Level Head.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Secretary Herbert has authorized the statement that he will decline to extend leaves of absence to any officer of the navy who is engaged in private business. He will not interfere with the orders of his predecessors, but will grant no new leaves of this kind, and will call in all those already granted at the expiration of the terms assigned them. The secretary says that he does not think it right that officers educated by the government should be permitted, for their own private advantage, to utilize their knowledge and experience against the government and at the same time remain on its pay roll. His decision refers to officers on leave who are employed by private firms, those on lecturing tours, and those employed in private capacities at the World's Fair.

Fell a Hundred Feet.

AKRON, O., May 9.—Last night Gus Schuler and Miss Martha Kline started out for a drive to Cuyahoga Falls. A street railway company is constructing trucks over a big bridge that crosses the Cuyahoga river just above the Glens and has torn a portion of the bridge away. Danger signals were not out and Schuler attempted to drive over the bridge. This morning the horse was discovered standing on a ledge about thirty feet below the bridge. The buggy, almost a total wreck, was lodged in another place, and thus far no trace has been discovered of Schuler and Miss Kline. The bridge is 100 feet above the water and the couple must have met instant death.

All He Wanted of Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—W. J. Morgan, a well-known real estate man, shot himself through the heart in the lavatory at his office on California street this afternoon. Death was instantaneous. The cause leading to the suicide is yet unknown. Morgan was President of the Belvedere Land company, owners of the townsite of Belvedere, an ultra fashionable resort across the bay in Marin county. The statement is freely made that his accounts with the company are not straight, but the officers deny that there is any deficit. Morgan lived in a beautiful home at Belvedere and leaves a wife and child. He had resided here nine years, coming from St. Louis.

None But Royal

BAKING POWDER is absolutely pure. No other equals it, or approaches it in leavening strength, purity, or wholesomeness. (See U. S. Gov't Reports.) No other is made from cream of tartar specially refined for it and chemically pure. No other makes such light, sweet, finely-flavored, and wholesome food. No other will maintain its strength without loss until used, or will make bread or cake that will keep fresh so long, or that can be eaten hot with impunity, even by dyspeptics. No other is so economical.

The Baking Powders now being offered in this vicinity, with the statement that they are "as good as Royal," have been shown by the official analyses to be composed of alum and detrimental to health.

The official chemists of the United States and Canada, State analysts, municipal boards of health, and physicians indorse the great qualities of the Royal Baking Powder.

WITH California cherries selling at $1 a pound in Chicago, the growers ought to rise up and demand a share of the boodle.

CHICAGO is shocked by the nudity displayed in the art exhibit. They make a specialty of dressing things there, especially hogs.

THE hard way in which the fat President has sat upon the Geary act is calculated to have a depressing effect on the gubernatorial aspirations of the gifted author of that depressed law.

IT would be a great disappointment to the show loving people of this country if the trusts should all go and burst themselves before the advertised smashing begins. There is nothing on the political program to which the people are looking forward with such unabated interest as the spectacle that will greet their gaze when the trust smasher begins operations.

THE county government act, concocted and passed in 1891 by certain county officials, assisted by Senator Goucher, does not seem to be possessed of a very robust constitution, according to the decision of the supreme court. Nonentity usually ends as it begins—in nothing—but during its inglorious existence this act has been the source of a great deal of annoyance and confusion. There will be a feeling of general thankfulness when the entire matter has been passed upon and cleaned, and county officials and taxpayers can again be able to find out where the county government is "at."

A REVIEW of the operations of some of the great banks of the world shows that during the two years ending April 1, 1893, the Bank of France increased its stock of gold $96,960,000; of Austria-Hungary, $25,891,000; of England, $19,230,000; of Germany, $22,558,590; of Spain, $9,320,000; of Netherlands, $4,543. Between April 1, 1891, and October 1, 1892, the Bank of Russia increased its stock of gold $122,902,000. During the two years ending April 1, 1893, the supply of gold held by the United States diminished $74,057,000. In view of recent financial controversies these figures are of particular interest.

TO ABOLISH the duty on Sumatra wrappers, as the Democrats propose, would ruin the tobacco industry in New York and New England. It is upon the wrapper duty that the whole tobacco growing industry depends. Growers raise their tobacco crops for the wrappers. The finest leaves are sorted out for this purpose, and they practically represent the yield. The balance of the tobacco, which is sold at a nominal price, is merely a by-product. As soon as the raising of wrappers becomes unprofitable tobacco growers will go out of the business. Under free Sumatra wrappers they would have to do so. It was mainly through the higher duties imposed by the McKinley law that the domestic tobacco industry has taken such a prodigious stride forward during the past two years.

Rice is the principal food of about 800,000,000 persons, or 54 per cent of the 1,500,000,000 people who inhabit the earth. There is no other vegetable product so widely consumed. A people's diet is largely a matter of education, and Americans need educating as to the food value of this grain. It is especially adapted to the wants of a meat eating people like our own, and is highly nutritious. According to a late report from the department of agriculture, a pound of rice contains 86.00 per cent of nutritive matter, against 82.54 per cent for wheat, 82.79 per cent for rye, 74.02 for oats, 82.97 per cent for corn, 23.24 per cent for potatoes, 46.93 per cent for fat beef and 26.83 per cent for lean beef. Rice heads the list. But its nutritive qualities differ widely from most of the other foods in the comparison. It is essentially a heat producing, fattening food. Lean beef contains about 21 per cent of albuminoids, which produce bone, muscle and blood, and less than one-half of 1 per cent of the heat producing carbohydrates. Of the former rice contains only 6.73 per cent, but 78.48 per cent of the latter. It is thus seen that these two food products admirably supplement each other. Rice is also easily digested requiring, when boiled, one hour for the process, against three required by roast beef. The United States produces the best rice in the world. So marked is its superiority that the Indian government has introduced the Carolina variety into India, a country where rice cultivation and consumption have been conducted on a mammoth scale for unnumbered centuries. Though extensive rice lands are lying waste in the southern states, we produce on an average only about half of our limited consumption.

THE Traffic Association's proposition to raise a large amount of money—say half a million dollars—for the building of the Stockton, Fresno and Bakersfield railroad, is the proper procedure; in fact it is the only program by which the project can be successfully carried out. It will be an idle waste of time and money for the people of San Francisco to come to the people of this valley and ask for assistance in carrying out this enterprise until they have first demonstrated their own good faith and liberality by very substantial support. San Francisco is one of the richest cities per capita in the United States, but with her millions piled idly in bank vaults and seeking local securities at a high rate of interest, she has with the stupidity and supineness of an overfed Shylock allowed cities of far less commercial importance as to location and natural advantages to secure superior transportation facilities and thus distance her comparatively in the industrial race. The earnest appeals of the great agricultural districts of the state for relief they have listened to with lazy indifference, and as a matter of course the interior does not now feel in a humor to rise up and go to the assistance of the selfish and silurian metropolis. That city must first demonstrate its willingness to fully do its share of railroad building before it can look to this valley for any assistance. When San Francisco has done something herself, then she will find the San Joaquin valley ready to respond liberally to the support of any feasible project she may see fit to undertake. As matters now stand there is a strong probability that one additional outlet from this valley will be secured before the Stockton road materializes. The Monterey project is now well in hand, and this will take from San Francisco a certain amount of trade of which she has heretofore enjoyed a monopoly. The silurian metropolis is waking up none too soon if she expects to hold even the diminished trade which she has left.

SUPERVISOR LEVCHER has made a statement for publication to the effect that he is the author of the plan recently adopted by the Board of Supervisors whereby a committee of two was selected to purchase the furniture for the new court house. He stoutly defends the unusual method by which this important piece of business is to be done, and it may be admitted that if the plan is carried out just as he outlines it no serious fault can be found with the result. But it must still be maintained that the established method of letting contracts to the lowest bidder should not under any ordinary circumstances be ignored. The argument that the business can be more safely transacted by a committee of two than by the whole board is certainly entitled to the distinction of originality, but if that is the proper plan in this case it is also the proper procedure in all similar transactions, and it is very doubtful if a general change to this method would be beneficial in the long run. The plan of letting contracts to the lowest responsible bidder is probably as good as can be devised, and there seems to be no reason why the bids should not be passed upon by the entire board, if the majority of that body can be trusted to transact the business of the county. We believe that the county will get a square deal under the present arrangement, but it is a departure from established methods that does not appear to be warranted by the circumstances or conditions.

Old People.

J. V. S. is the only Sarsaparilla that old or feeble people should take, as the mineral potash which is in every other Sarsaparilla that we know of, is under certain conditions known to be emaciating. J. V. S. on the contrary is purely vegetable and stimulates digestion and creates new blood, the very thing for old, delicate or broken down people. It builds them up and prolongs their lives. A case in point:

Mrs. Belden an estimable and elderly lady of 510 Mason St., S. F. was for months declining so rapidly as to seriously alarm her family. It got so bad that she was finally afflicted with fainting spells. She writes: "While in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V. S. and sent for a bottle. That marked the turning point. I regained my lost flesh and strength and have not felt so well in years." That was two years ago and Mrs. Belden is well and hearty to-day, and still taking J.V.S.

Notice to Road Contractors.

In the Board of Supervisors.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT PURSUANT to the provisions of Section 2613, subdivision 5, and Section 2646, subdivisions 1 and 2, of the Political Code of the State of California, the Board of Supervisors of Fresno County will receive sealed bids up to and including the 15th day of May, 1893, at 2 o'clock p.m. of said day, for the construction of a wagon road as per plans and specifications to be seen at the office of the County Surveyor of Fresno County.

Point of commencement of said road is at the end of the present graded road at the sw corner of the se¼ of the sw¼ of section 33, in twp 13 s, r 26 e, and continuing on a survey as located by J. S. Bedford, to a point on C. G. Wright's place, in section 3, twp 14 s, r 26 e; thence on a survey located by George L. Hoxie, County Surveyor, from said point in section 3 to the Sequoia Mill, in section 35, twp 13 s, r 27 e, a total distance of 14½ miles.

Each bid is to be accompanied by a deposit or certified check in the sum of $100, as security that the successful bidder will enter into a contract with the Board, together with a good and sufficient bond to be approved by said Board, in an amount equal to 50 per cent of the contract price, conditional for the faithful performance of the contract.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Attest: W. A. SHEPHERD, Clerk.

JACK MALONEY SHOT

And Mortally Wounded by M. C. Boyd.

A CLUB SALOON TRAGEDY

Four Shots Fired, Three by Boyd and One by Maloney—His Dying Statement.

Jack Maloney was shot and mortally wounded last night by M. C. Boyd in the notorious Club saloon on F street.

The affair occurred at about 11.30 last night. Four shots were fired, three by Boyd and one by Maloney, as the empty chambers in the men's pistols show and as is confirmed by the testimony of bystanders who heard the reports.

The witnesses of the shooting were very reticent, and two of the most prominent when asked by a REPUBLICAN reporter whether they were present denied that such was the fact.

THE WOUNDS.

Boyd was taken to jail by Policeman Zener, and Maloney was conveyed in a hack to the office of Drs. Maupin where an examination of his wounds was made.

A bullet hole was found in his right arm, about four inches below the point of the shoulder. The bullet ranged downward passing through the arm and entering the body.

There was another hole in the left side, about four inches above and in front of the point of the hip bone and on a level with the navel. This was a jagged wound resembling that made by the exit rather, than the entrance of a bullet, and for this reason the physicians were inclined to believe that but one bullet had entered Maloney's body at the right arm and passed out at the left side.

THE LAST RITES.

Dan Maloney of the Villa and Tom Maloney, brothers of the wounded man, were sent for, and arrived about the same time as did Father Garrigan of the Catholic church. The priest having been informed by the doctors that Maloney was likely to die, administered the last sacrament of the church—that of extreme unction.

Maloney was assiduously attended by a good looking young woman named Edna and after he had made his antemortem statement he was removed to the residence of his brother Tom.

THE DYING STATEMENT.

The dying statement was made in answer to questions put by Dante R. Prince and was taken down in shorthand by Dr. J. L. Maupin:

"Jack; tell me who shot you?" asked Mr. Prince.

"Charley Boyd," was the reply. Then in answer to other questions Maloney said: "I never struck him and I never drew anything on him before he shot me. He took the pistol from under the counter. I had made no attempt to strike him. He fired three or four shots at me and I shot at him one or twice, I don't remember which.

"Boyd pulled his pistol and fired first. The trouble was about back wages that he owed me and also his keeper's fees that he owed me. I never threatened to kill Boyd and never said a word against him.

SOME WITNESSES.

"There were a dozen people in the saloon at the time. Owen Fallon came there for the purpose of making a settlement. Charley McCarthy was there, too, and Irish Tom."

Here the wounded man tossed uneasily on the operating table. "Lift up my arm," he said.

The woman Edna, whose grief appeared to be poignant and sincere, raised his bloody arm to a less painful position.

KNEW HE MIGHT DIE.

"In making this statement," said Mr. Prince, "you understand that you are pretty sick and that you are liable to pass away at any time?"

"Yes, I understand that," replied Maloney.

"You feel that you are pretty dangerously and badly shot?"

"I do."

"The doctor so informs you that you are dangerously shot and may die at any minute?"

"Yes."

BOYD'S STATEMENT.

When Policeman Zener was taking Boyd to jail the prisoner told him that Maloney had fired one shot at him and that he had fired at Maloney in self defense.

A REPUBLICAN reporter found Boyd in the reception room of the jail talking with several friends. When asked whether he did not wish to have his side of the story made public he replied that he had no statement to make.

ORIGIN OF THE TROUBLE.

The Club saloon was formerly conducted by Billy Levison, Charles McCarthy and Jack Maloney, and it achieved considerable notoriety by fleecing such of its patrons who would submit to that process.

It became so disorderly a place that the license was revoked and the saloon was closed until M. C. Boyd and Owen Fallon obtained a license a few months ago.

A week or two ago a woman named Juanita Sobrantes attached the saloon for rent due her, and shortly afterwards A. Greenebaum, wholesale liquor dealer, levied another attachment for liquors sold and delivered.

Jack Maloney had worked as bartender for Boyd & Fallon and they owed him wages for his services. Jack was put in as keeper in both cases and when the attachments were settled the keeper's fees were not paid. Fallon in the meantime had disposed of his interest to Boyd and Maloney looked to Boyd for the payment of his wages and for the keeper's fees.

At an early hour this morning Maloney was failing fast.

A DISORDERLY PLACE.

About an hour before the shooting F. D. Stevens, a young man from the country, visited the saloon with a male friend and had several drinks. He had been robbed of $10 by a disreputable woman in Chinatown a short time before and he was loudly bewailing his loss when a man named F. Nicksher threatened to beat him. In the mean time one of the habitues of the saloon snatched a silver watch out of the pocket of Stevens' friend, and while he was struggling with the robber Stevens started in to assist him when Nicksher struck Stevens on the head with a bottle knocking him out of the fight.

Policeman Zener arrested Nicksher and piloted Stevens to the office of the Drs. Maupin where his scalp wounds were dressed.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Miss Emma Wald Remembered by Her Friends.

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church gave a farewell party last Monday night in honor of Miss Emma Wald at the residence of Mrs. Schleyer. Miss Wald has been attending the Fresno Business college and is about to depart for her home in Oakland.

Among those present were, Misses Rebecca and Daisy Williams, Miss A. E. Armstrong, Miss Gilmore, Miss L. E. Westfall, Miss Jessie Whitney, Miss Hogan, Miss Noble, Misses Eliza, Gertrude and Marie Schleyer, Messrs. J. D. Clark, Albert Olney, George Brown, Alex. Dick, T. L. Harris, J. H. Ball, S. D. Williams, C. H. Fay.

A Veteran Visitor.

L. W. Simmons, inspector of customs of the port of San Francisco is paying Fresno a visit as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mitchell. Mr. Simmons has a long and honorable record in the public service, having been private secretary of William Phelps, the genial Indian agent of the Buchanan administration from 1854 to 1857. Following this he was engaged in the United States secret service, during which employment he captured the famous Bill Morgan and Dr. Myrd in northern Arkansas. Since the war he was in the government service, and for the past ten years has lectured upon educational themes and reminiscences of the war, his principal lecture being "The Union Spy." It is possible that Fresnoans may have the pleasure of hearing him during his visit here.

A Heavenly Whistler.

The clear, liquid notes of the mocking birds in Southern California, says the Riverside Press, can be heard day and night, summer and winter. A little boy in Riverside, hearing the birds for the first time, rushed in from his play in great excitement and exclaimed, "Oh, mamma! mamma! I heard God a listlin!"

Weeds in the Park.

Weeds began to take possession of the City Park last week, and on Monday of this week the street committee of the City Council put six men to work cleaning away the weeds. The work was finished at noon yesterday. The weeds sprang from the manure that was so freely planted in the park.

A Heavy Grain Crop.

E. D. Vogelsang, constable from Huron, was in town yesterday. He reports the grain crop in the irrigated parts of the Huron district as being exceptionally heavy, in some places, being estimated at forty bushels of barley to the acre. This land is irrigated by flooding.

THE PUPILS' CONTEST.

A GENTLE ROAR FROM SANGER ABOUT IT.

Because a Ninth Grade Girl Became the Choice of Fresno County.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—I see by your paper of yesterday that the three best examination papers have been chosen for this county, the first two to ninth grade pupils and the third to an eighth grade pupil. Now the contest was open to eighth grade pupils only in graded schools, and to those under 17 in ungraded schools.

I have read the offer many times in the Examiner, and it was as plain as English could make it.

When we went to take the examination we found several ninth grade pupils there to take it also, but we thought our superintendent would understand the matter and was allowing them to do so only for practice.

But now two ninth grade pupils have the preference over an eighth grade pupil, and the offer was only to eighth grade pupils in graded schools. It is not fair, when the Examiner has so many times stated to whom the contest is open. Of course a ninth grade pupil could outshine eighth grade pupils, and it would be all right if the Examiner had included them in the offer, but the Examiner did not open the contest to them.

A pupil having the best examination in the eighth grade should have been selected from Fresno county and then the eighth grade pupil who has been selected in San Joaquin county will have a fair chance as a final selection is to be made between the two best eighth grade examinations in the two counties. It is not fair to the eighth grade pupils in either county.

AN EIGHTH GRADE PUPIL.

Sanger, Fresno county.

T. J. Kirk, County School Superintendent, was asked concerning the foregoing. He replied that his understanding of the matter was that all pupils who were not past the age of 17 and who had not completed the grammar grade were eligible to compete. Under this view of the proposition a ninth grade pupil would be eligible.

It might, however, be well to obtain the opinion of the Examiner on this matter, because a mistake would be quite a serious affair.

Insomnia is fearfully on the increase. The rush and excitement of modern life so tax the nervous system that multitudes of people are deprived of good and sufficient sleep, with ruinous consequences to the nerves. Remember, Ayer's Sarsaparilla makes the weak strong. *

UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The County Government Act Criticised.

A SUPREME COURT DECISION

The Appointment of Assistant District Attorneys Declared to be Illegal.

The legislature in the session of 1891 did a great deal of tinkering with the laws pertaining to county government. The methods employed were a matter of common notoriety and created a great deal of dissatisfaction. Under the specious pretense of classification the legislature enacted a vast amount of special legislation. Every county in the state was set apart as a special class and the county was then specially legislated for by number instead of name.

By this means and certain well defined and malodorous methods of certain alleged politicians the county government act so far as it pertained to Fresno county, was radically altered but in no sense amended. In short the legislation was vicious in many respects. It took away from the superior court the power to extend the sessions of the Board of Supervisors and lodged that power in the district attorney. The office of roadmaster was abolished and their duties under the act devolved upon the supervisors. The matter of mending or marring roads was all that a supervisor could engage in beyond six days in each month without the consent of the district attorney.

There was an increase in the number of deputies to be appointed in the offices of sheriff, recorder and district attorney. Salaries were increased. The power of appointment was by the act taken out of the control of the Board of Supervisors and the number of assistants and their salaries fixed regardless of demand of public business for the appointment of a greater or less number, or for a limited time. It was special legislation in several senses.

At that time H. D. Tupper was district attorney and, under the provisions of the previous law governing the matter the district attorney was entitled to one assistant, at a salary of $1500 a year. By the new law he was entitled to appoint one assistant and two deputies of the several salaries of $2400, $1800 and $1500 per year.

At that time B. H. Welch, Esq., was duly appointed assistant at the $2400 salary. In due course Mr. Welch presented his claim to the auditor, R. H. Bramlet, for $200 being for one month's salary. Mr. Bramlet declined to pay, claiming the act unconstitutional, and an action was instituted by Mr. Welch against Auditor Bramlet to test the constitutionality of the act. Mr. Welch presented his case and Sayle & Colwell and E. D. Edwards had charge of the defense, and the matter was passed upon by Superior Court and at once sent up to the Supreme Court upon a number of points.

It seems that the supreme court took the same view of the matter as the defense. The effect of the decision may be more far reaching than would at first blush appear. For instance, if the act is declared to be altogether null and void, it would take the board of supervisors from under the patronage of the district attorney's office and restore the former powers of the superior court. Again we would be bereft of road masters. There would be an evanishing of deputies in the office of sheriff, recorder and district attorney, unless the board of supervisors should be complacent and bear their appeals for help.

Another point would be a material reduction of the salary list, and recording rates would be lowered. Besides, if the act is declared wholly unconstitutional it would restore the terms of office of county officers to the old rule of two years instead of four.

A number of the county officials were interviewed yesterday afternoon, but none of them felt inclined to give any opinion on the situation until such time as they could have the benefit of the full text of the opinion.

At present no one seems to know whether the act has been set aside as a whole or only in part.

However, there is no doubt that when the full decision is published it will be found that it applies to the district attorney's office alone. The question at bar was whether Mr. Welch, the appointee under the act of 1891, was entitled to the salary fixed by the act. This of course only brought in question the validity of that portion of the act appertaining to his appointment and fixing his salary and defining the powers, etc., of the district attorney on those points, and whatever the judges may say in their reasoning in the case outside of the validity of the statute in this particular, while it may indicate the line of thought and forecast some future decision is neither decision of law nor yet binding upon any court, or the Supreme Court itself. It is what lawyers term "obiter dicta"—the private opinion of the Court publicly expressed.

Therefore it is plain that while the decision declares the act unconstitutional in one particular and advances the opinion that it is unconstitutional as a whole, it has not so declared, though it will do so, doubtless, as soon as it is brought in question before the supreme court.

Just what position the district attorney's office is placed in is a matter of opinion. Some lawyers seem to think that the district attorney will have to get along with a $1500 assistant as was the case prior to the amendment of 1891. Others think that the county government act of 1893 covers the case, but this is questioned, because it is claimed that some exceptions in favor of this county makes it another case of special legislation and equally unconstitutional with the act of 1891. Again it is contended that the acts have so tied up the board of supervisors that they cannot furnish assistance to the district attorney. Perhaps a way will be found to carry out the demands of public business without serious complication, as the good sense of the people can be depended upon in such cases. However, it is an admonition to the public to see to it hereafter that there is a greater manifestation of common cart horse sense when the county government of Fresno is at issue, and that the undigested ideas of every scheming whippersnapper may not receive the sanction of legislative enactment, to the confusion of public business and the detriment of public good.

There never was any ground in reason for these enactments. Outside of the incentives that inspired the small clique that secured their passage before the general public was aware that such a movement was in contemplation there was no reason for its coinage, and, now that the coinage is declared base as the source from whence it came, the public must seek an outlet, and endeavor hereafter to secure the enactment of a county government law based on reason and common sense.

THE DECISION.

SACRAMENTO, May 9.—The supreme court today filed a decision affirming the judgment of the superior court of Fresno, denying a writ of mandate to compel the auditor of that county to draw a salary warrant in favor of Deputy District Attorney Walsh.

The latter was appointed in April, 1891, under provisions of the county government act of that year. The county government act of 1883 made Fresno county of the twenty-second class, where it remained until 1891.

In the statutes of 1889, section 183, the county government act provided that the district attorney of that class of counties shall receive a salary of $3000 per annum, and added that it should be in full compensation for all services of every kind and description rendered, and all deputies employed shall be paid by their principals out of their salaries herein before provided.

Under the classification of counties in 1891 Fresno county was advanced to the eighth class. The salary remains the same for district attorney, but the legislature provided that he might appoint three deputies whose salaries should be paid by the county. The supreme court says: "To construe Article II of the constitution so that a county clerk, auditor or district attorney's salary could not be increased during his term of office, but that an act of the legislature would be valid, which provided that all his deputies, men whom he was bound to employ and bound to pay, in the absence of such an act should be paid by the county independent of and in addition to the official's salary would be to allow that to be done indirectly, which could not be done directly, and would be establishing a medium for the practice of the very abuse which the constitutional provision was intended to destroy. We must take judicial knowledge that there is only one county in the state whose population places it in the eighth class, and an act is passed by the legislature that is applicable to only one county in the state. It does not cease to be a local act by reason of the fact that it purports to be applicable to a class of counties which the legislature is not authorized to create for the purpose of such legislation, and of which that county contributes the only member. The judgment of the lower court is affirmed."

"THE COUNTY FAIR."

It is Approved by The Republican's Candid Critic.

"The County Fair" drew a crowded house at the Barton last evening, though it was feared the Remenyi concert would lessen the attendance.

It is a pleasing picture of New England life, with Neil Burgess as Abigail Prue, the central figure.

The scenery is very complete and effective, though much of its perfection was lost owing to the lack of space on the stage.

This was deplorable in the "race," as much of the effect was lost. Still the scene was grand enough to set the audience wild, many of whom rose in their seats, shouting as earnestly as though they were witnessing a bona fide race.

The Bison City Quartette gave some very pleasing selections, and "The County Fair" drew to a close, a very pleasing success. CANINO CATARINA.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Bold Attempt of Two Men to Rob a Third.

About 8 o'clock last night three men in a buggy passed along E street on the west side of the track, and when near the old ditch one of them jumped out of the buggy and ran along the ditch. One of them followed him on a run when the one pursued began to hollow "murder."

A young son of Special Officer Wofford and a lad named Allen ran to the scene and found the man making the outcry in the ditch up to his waist in water and his pursuer about to follow him. When the boys came up the would-be robber jumped into the buggy and drove off.

The man making the outcry did not give his name, but stated that the other two had asked him to ride with them and had attempted to rob him. He claimed that he knew the men and saying that he was going up town to have them arrested disappeared in the darkness. Diligent inquiry at official headquarters were made, but no further traces of him could be found.

Death of C. C. Harriot.

C. C. Harriot died at his residence on Oak street in this city at 11 o'clock Saturday evening after an illness of several years. Deceased was an old resident of Visalia and in years past was bookkeeper for the firm of Stevens & Co. During many years of his life Mr. Harriot was a great sufferer from asthma. He was a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., and was 61 years of age at the time of his death. His wife survives him. Their only child, a daughter, died while quite young some fourteen years ago. The funeral took place from the family residence, Rev. J. H. White officiating.—Visalia Times.

A GREAT GENIUS.

THE REMENYI CONCERT A MUSICAL REVELATION.

A Criticism in a General Way and Rather Laudatory, by Juan Pablo.

The large number of persons who attended the Barton last night to see certain live horses running on a treadmill may have been as well pleased according to their lights as were those who attended the Remenyi concert in Armory hall next door, but the pleasure was of a different kind.

These last brought away with them something more than the memory of things seen; they gained a souvenir of soul experience that will linger in their hearts and brighten them with sunshine when the hours of life are dark and the spirit is weary of work and waiting, for music of all the sensuous delights is the most divine if anything sensuous can be divine.

Edward Remenyi with human feeling for his text and his violin and bow for his pulpit is one of the greatest, most convincing preachers on earth. His sermons are divine. There is no false logic in them. Nor any bad rhetoric, for they are spoken in the language of the heart—the Volapuk of the universe. They are understandable by all men, of all races, of all ages, of all colors, for they play upon the universal chord of human feeling.

Fair hands grew red and sore with applauding last night, and the bald headed, smooth faced old gentleman who had thrown his hearers into a blissful spell delighted them anew by graciously responding to every encore.

The secret of his genius is hidden in the fact that he plays not with his fingers, but with his soul. Anyone by practice may teach the fingers to be nimble and supple. Any first-class mechanic could construct a machine that could play a selection on the violin, but the result would be the corpse of a beautiful melody, not the living, glowing, fascinating reality.

Remenyi is great because he has soul. How breathless the house was when for an encore the Master began that wistful, melting, langorous, half sad, half happy Schubert's serenade! Master and violin were alike forgotten. There was no sound of resined string, but a sweet and tender song clear as the tones of a bugle.

What woman behind the darkened lattice guarded by jealous sisinetur could resist a serenade like that! There may be one in a thousand, but that one is either dead or in heaven where, perhaps, may be found better players than Remenyi.

The star was well supported by Miss Minnie D. Methot soprano, Mlle. Florence Sage pianist, and James W. Marshbank baritone. Of these suffice it to say that they are considerably above the average.

JUAN PABLO.

THE VALLEY ROAD.

Popular Subscriptions Will Be Asked For.

There seems to be an inclination to encourage popular participation in the Stockton and Bakersfield Railroad enterprise, says the San Francisco Bulletin. There is no objection to a large committee to get subscriptions. "Give every one who is in a position to do so a chance to share in the credit of assisting to emancipate this state." That is the substance of the current idea. There is a chance for a volunteer committee of 100 to start in at once to take subscriptions. The movement is popular. In six months San Francisco would feel the favorable impulse which the beginning of the work at Stockton would give to business. A leading member of the Traffic Association was asked what a volunteer committee of 100 can accomplish.

"Everything," he said. "The facts are well known. The necessity for the road is generally conceded. The public is awake to the situation. Let us strike while the iron is hot. Here is a chance for the active young merchants who compose the California League of Progress to do telling work. They ought to be able to raise a large sum of money in a short time. Will they do it? We are now on our mettle, and it is now the time for active work. All the facts can be learned of the executive committee of the Traffic Association."

The Traffic Association has taken up the San Joaquin Valley road building. Inquiry leads to the conclusion that the individual remarks of the member of the association quoted in the foregoing indicate a general willingness to permit the young men who wish to help build up this state, to have a share in the work. The offices of the Traffic Association are at 214 Pine street.

THE FRESNO EXHIBIT.

It Did Much Good in Los Angeles.

A meeting of the board of trade was held last Monday evening for the purpose of settling up the business of the exhibit recently sent to Los Angeles.

Mr. Harvey reported that the Fresno exhibit surpassed those of the other southern counties. Many persons who visited the Fresno exhibit had heard of Fresno for the first time and said that they would visit Fresno.

The exhibit has been productive of much good.

HOMICIDE AT HILDRETH

Elijah Ehart Misses His Man.

THE DEADLY BULLDOG AGAIN

William Levarone Jr. Claims to Have Acted in Self-defense and Surrenders.

At a late hour last night Charles O'Neil of O'Neil's station, brought William Levarone Jr., down from the north side and lodged him in jail for the killing of Elijah Ehart.

As near as could be ascertained the facts of the homicide were about as follows:

Young Levarone, who is about 17 years of age, had borrowed a Winchester rifle of Ehart and had filled the magazine with cartridges of his own. Some time yesterday Ehart came after his gun and Levarone let him have it. Levarone then wanted to remove and retain the cartridges, but Ehart refused to permit him to do so.

Ehart became very angry and swore that he would kill the boy before night. Young Levarone became frightened, knowing Ehart to be a desperate character, and armed himself with a five-chambered self-cocking bull dog revolver of 44 caliber.

About 3 p.m. Ehart had an altercation with the boy, and, raising his rifle, shot at the boy, filling his hand with powder. Thereupon the boy turned loose on him with the pistol, firing all five of the chambers, inflicting wounds from which Ehart soon after died.

Young Levarone went to Charles O'Neill's and got him to bring him down to this city, where he surrendered to the sheriff's officers, and was locked up in jail.

The killing took place about six miles northeast of O'Neil's station, where the parties reside.

There were a number of witnesses who, it is said, claim that Levarone acted in self defense, and was perfectly justifiable.

Ehart was a native of Iowa, about 46 years of age, and has the reputation of being a bad man generally. His wife was compelled to get a divorce from him, and resides somewhere near Gilroy.

It is said that he was accustomed to employ men at Fresno and elsewhere to cut wood for him and after they had piled up fifteen or twenty cords he would manage to raise a row on some pretense and then run them off the ranch without paying them. In case they did not promptly get scared out he would take a few shots at them with his Winchester to accelerate their departure. From what can be learned he passed as a bad man generally.

Young Levarone is the son of Billy Levarone, who was substantially raised by the late Thomas Hildreth, and is well known in this county and about San Jose.

He bears a good reputation in the community and his son is said to be a quiet peaceable boy.

Coroner Stephens has been notified and will hold an inquest on the body of Ehart today at the scene of the tragedy.

A Century Plant in Bloom—Society Notes.

From The Republican Special Correspondent.

KINGSBURG, May 9.—Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hennick and E. W. Pinkley and wife went as delegates to the District Lodge of Good Templars at Reedley last Saturday.

Little Ralph Smith, whose sickness was mentioned last week, died on Friday evening and was buried here on Saturday. He was 8 years old and was a very bright boy.

Mrs. M. E. Richardson spoke in the Methodist church on Sunday afternoon and evening to a large audience. Temperence was the subject of her discourse. A band of hope will be organized next Sunday.

Kingsburg will soon possess a curiosity. A century plant has for some fourteen years been growing quietly in Delbridge's yard, all the time preparing to celebrate the Columbian anniversary after its own fashion. It is now sending up a strong stem some eight inches in diameter and will be blooming in a month more. This is probably the first century plant that has bloomed in the county.

A. A. Smith has gone to Vallejo to attend a meeting of the trustees of the Orphans' Home.

Ed Van Buren of the Keeley Institute has spent a few days with his family in town.

Judge L. D. McKisick and Lawyer W. C. Graves of San Francisco arrived last evening.

W. H. Kerr and E. D. Vogelsang represented the thriving Huron district in this city yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. Deardorff left this morning for the World's Fair. Mrs. Deardorff will remain there during the summer and the Doctor will return by way of the Canadian Pacific in about seven weeks.

Mrs. Cecile Langley, mother of S. Thornton Langley of this city, has arrived from England. They have leased the house, No. 550 Blackstone avenue, and will be at home to their friends on and after the 15th instant.

A. Grieve and wife of Madera, and Mrs. Dugan and daughter, Kittie, of San Francisco, after spending a week with Mrs. William Fahey of this city, leave for Madera today. They attended "The County Fair" last night.

Judge J. C. Black, an attorney of San Jose, arrived yesterday for the purpose of taking part in the ejectment case of Hildreth against James Davis and others. The suit involves the title to 13,654 acres, in what is known as the Hildreth ranch.

E. L. Colson of the Mail, and James A. Morrissey left today for Chicago to visit the World's Fair. Mr. Morrissey goes as the representative of the state board of trade, San Joaquin county having been honored with the mission by the state board on account of its representative's valuable services in the past.—Stockton Mail.

THE CROPS.

Reports Made to the United States Weather Bureau.

Crop Bulletin No. 6, for Central California, Fresno, for the week ending Monday, May 8th.

The weather for the week has been rather unsettled, the temperature of Sunday bringing the average up to within 2 degrees of the normal, and with fine rains Monday on the west side, Tres Pinos reporting .42 of an inch, Pinoche .14 of an inch, and Los Banos .17 of an inch, with heavy rains along the foothills of the West Side and light showers along the hills east of Fresno. The winds have decreased in force.

The grain crop on lands not affected by sub-irrigation will be short; on the summer fallow land the crop is all right.

Cutworms are doing much damage south and west of Fresno, and much mildew is to be seen.

Reedley—Grain looks fine, with prospects of a large crop on summer fallow land. Vines look promising; no worms have been seen yet in this district, and very little mildew.

Pixley—Early sown grain will go about six sacks per acre. Vines look well; no worms seen yet. The red spider is doing considerably damage, particularly to the prunes.

Easton—Grain has held its own the past week. Vines are blossoming heavily. We have no worms, as the blackbirds, whose home is in the tules, destroy all insect life for miles around.

Fowler—Wheat is in fine shape and never looked better. Worms are doing considerable damage and some mildew is seen.

Selma—Much damage has been done by the cut-worms. Fruits are looking well. Grain needs rain badly.

Madera — Grain rapidly burning. Some mildew on vines. Only a few cut-worms working on the young vines.

Sanger—Grain is burning rapidly. The warm weather Saturday and Sunday has checked the mildew and the ravages of the cut-worms which have done much damage. Some vineyards have only the stumps of the vines left.

Caruthers—If rain is not had in the next week crops will be almost a dead failure.

Merced—Grain is about burned out. Much of it will not be worth cutting. Fruit is looking fairly well.

I am in receipt of a telegram from the department of agriculture at Washington which makes a request for specimens of moths, worms and all insects which are destructive to our crops. I will be glad to get these, and will forward them to Professor Riley, who is the greatest authority on entomology in America, and who will instruct us how to protect our crops from their ravages.

Please send me the best specimens you can get. Put them in alcohol in bottles and pack in cotton or bran in a small box.

JOHN R. WILLIAMS, Director.

Mrs. W. J. Florence.

The widespread desire that has so long prevailed throughout the country to see the favorite, Mrs. W. J. Florence, in her old role, Mrs. General Gilflory, in "The Mighty Dollar," has caused her to again consent to appear on the stage. It will be remembered that it was in this play and role that Mrs. Florence made the triumphant hit of her stage career. Mrs. Florence's role of Mrs. General Gilflory exhibits in a high degree her power of infusing the true spirit of high comedy into whatever she undertakes. As a merry, gossipy, but withal the warm hearted American widow, Mrs. General Gilflory in "The Mighty Dollar" is humorous, from grave to gay, from lively to severe, with the nicety of nature.

While there may have been other roles which Mrs. Florence included in her repertoire that might have furnished more food for hilarity, not one of them has appealed so strongly to the audiences, being so aglow with magnetism that is known as genius as her rendition of "The Mighty Dollar." Mrs. Florence will be seen at the Barton Opera house, Monday, May 15th.

LEAGUE REPUBLICANS

Will Meet in Louisville, Ky., Today.

LOUISVILLE, May 9.—The Republican leaders of the various National Republican organizations continue to arrive. It is estimated that there are at least 6000 strangers in the city.

Business houses and public buildings are decorated with flags and bunting, and this Democratic stronghold is assuming a holiday attire in honor of its Republican visitors.

The Republican national committee held an informal meeting tonight. The National League of Republican clubs will meet tomorrow and elect officers on Thursday. The League of College Republican clubs will meet for the same purpose on Thursday afternoon.

Candidates for the presidency of the National Republican League are becoming numerous. It is announced that I. Trumbo of California is in the field. A delegation arrived from that state last night and decided this morning to put him in the field.

It is also announced John C. Spooner of Wisconsin will contest for the office.

The Illinois delegation will come in a body with its candidate, W. W. Tracey.

It is reported that M. H. de Young of California is to make a fight for the chairmanship of the National Committee, though this is denied in some quarters.

I.O.O.F.

Interesting Report of Their Condition.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—The forty-first annual communication of the Grand Lodge I.O.O.F. convened in Odd Fellows hall this morning, Grand Master Stockwell presiding.

There was a large representation of state lodges, about 600 being reported by the committee.

The report of Grand Master Stockwell showed that eight lodges had been instituted during the year. His report otherwise showed a satisfactory condition of affairs.

Grand Secretary Lyons' report showed a total membership of subordinate lodges at the close of last year of 50,388, a net increase for the year of 1585. The amount paid for the relief of brothers was $221,203, and for the relief of widowed families $14,445; for funerals $25,325 had been expended on brothers. The total for relief and charity was $280,606, and for current expenses $104,696.

The state convention of the Daughters of Rebekah also began its session today. There are 224 delegates, representing 157 lodges. President Mrs. Allen's report shows an increase of ten lodges and 600 members.

MUTILATED MONEY.

HOW DAMAGED CURRENCY IS REDEEMED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Wonders Worked by Mrs. Brown, the Treasury Expert in Washington—A Few Cases in Which Bills Were Apparently Hopelessly Destroyed.

The redemption division of the treasury department is one of the most interesting of its branches. It is here that mutilated money comes for identification, and the form in which it comes tells to the chief of the division many a romance and many a tale of woe. There is much that is humorous and much that is pathetic in Mrs. Brown's public experience. That experience ranges over nearly eighteen years now, and in that time millions of dollars have passed through her hands, most of it in such condition as to be beyond identification by ordinary means.

There is hardly any way you can think of in which money is not mutilated or partly destroyed. Men light their cigars with it when they are drunk; rats gnaw it into tatters, and fire crisps it into brown ashes. Whenever there is a sudden cold snap at the beginning of winter the redemption division has a perfect harvest of mutilated money. One of the favorite hiding places which women have for their savings is the oven. When a cold day comes the woman probably forgets all about the money, builds a fire in the stove and cooks the bills to what is known in the cookbook as a "rich brown."

An interesting case is that of a woman living near Hamilton, O., who was burned to death. She had a pocketbook with her containing seventy dollars. Her children sent the pocketbook with its charred contents to the treasury department, and Mrs. Brown picked out the seventy dollars and identified it. A great deal of the money that comes in is partly burned. Wherever a part of the burned money can be identified and a satisfactory affidavit is furnished as to the facts the government restores the amount to the owner. But if a note is entirely destroyed the government is just so much ahead.

Much of the money which comes in for redemption has been damaged in railroad wrecks. When a car is burned in a railroad wreck no attempt is made by the express company to remove the money from the safe. The safe is sent direct to the treasury department and opened there. The money is usually in a pretty badly charred condition. It is taken out, and the treasury experts go over it and identify as much of it as can be recognized. Two years ago a package containing $22,000 was taken from a wreck near St. Louis, and all of the money was identified and restored to its owners.

A favorite hiding place for money with men who have no faith in banks is in their cellars. A Philadelphia man sent $280 which he had buried in a tin box under his cellar floor. When he took up the box he found the money mildewed and rotten. The package as it came into Mrs. Brown's hands looked like a bunch of tobacco leaves. It was almost impossible to distinguish the character of the notes with the naked eye. Mrs. Brown was picking apart the pieces bit by bit and arranging them on slips of brown paper cut to the size of a dollar bill. She said that she expected to identify the whole of it.

One man sent in some time ago forty-two dollars which had been taken from the stomach of a goat. The goat was not worth forty-two dollars, so he was sacrificed. The identification of this money was not a very nice task, but it was comparatively an easy one. When Mrs. Brown dropped the sticky mass into a basin of water the bills came apart and were very easily identified. This is not the only goat case which has come to the redemption division, and it has happened that oxen cows and pigs have been sacrificed to recover money which they had swallowed. There is one case on record where a baby swallowed some bank notes, and an emetic saved the money and possibly the baby. Babies do not often swallow an entire bill, but many affidavits are received accompanying portions of bills which say that the missing portions were swallowed by babies and "therefore wholly destroyed."

Usually when mutilated money is sent in for redemption the owner has a close if not perfect idea of the amount which is represented, but one old German in the west sent in some years ago what he claimed to be the remains of $5,000, and after a long, long investigation Mrs. Brown fully identified $7,100 in the package. A secret service agent was sent out to investigate the case, but he could discover nothing that would throw light upon the mystery, and so the mistake was charged up to the old man's stupidity, and the department sent $7,100 to him.

The redemption division receives very frequently pieces torn from bills, accompanied by affidavits saying that the remainder of the notes has been destroyed by mice. But the experts of the treasury department can tell in a minute whether a piece has been torn off or eaten off, and these petty frauds are never successful.

Treasurer Nebeker has a five dollar bill in his office made of sixteen pieces cut from five dollar notes matched so nicely that the ordinary eye would not detect the fraud. This composite note was sent in by a bank clerk in New York. The treasury experts detected the fraud immediately, and of course the bogus note was not redeemed.—Washington Cor. New York Press.

Little Economics.

At a recent gathering half a dozen people who spend their tens of thousands every year acknowledged a reluctance to light fresh candles, and one lady who is noted for her magnificent toilets confessed to being very angry with her maid if she bought English pins instead of American—which piece of economy netted a saving of five cents on every paper. —New York Tribune.

An Artist's Friends.

"Have you a friend in the world? Well, you might as well have none at all. Have your friends got any money; are they rich? Well, they will not spend a dollar for you. I warn you that you will find it so. I have been in this business a long while. I have told all my other patrons what I now tell you, and they have all found my every word was true." Thus spoke a picture auctioneer to an artist who was meditating an exhibition to be followed by a sale of the pictures. The two events followed one another, and the prophet's words did not come quite true. At the sale there was a notable absence of the artist's friends. Of the host of them only two or three who were not among the rich ones either came or bought anything. The others stayed away, saying afterward that they did not feel well or that they saw that the artist got good notices and was bound to do well—as he did, in spite of them.

There is nothing extraordinary about this situation. The probability is that the personal friends of the artists know them too well and like them too much to be certain that their judgment is fair and reliable when they come to exercise it in determining the market value of their work. Once an artist has established this value to be great his rich friends are apt to hunt around and secure some of the pictures they could have got cheaper when their presence would have been grateful to the artist. The poorer friends must then go without his work unless they have some that he gave away when he was younger and less famous.—New York Sun.

Experimenting With Corn.

"I made a queer and a very interesting experiment with a growing cornstalk," said Harvey Samuels as he settled in one of the great rockers in the Lindell. "I had always heard a great deal about the effect of injecting medicines and food into human beings, the method being pronounced preferable and more beneficial in cases of extreme illness than that of feeding through the regular channels. My work with this corn plant was decidedly interesting. I secured a small glass syringe with a very fine point to it. After the corn was two weeks old and only a few inches tall I began to inject the unfermented juice of crushed apples. My first injection was not quite a drop. Three days later I repeated the dose, increasing it slightly. In a little while the injection was a daily occurrence and the dose increased proportionately. The cornstalk waxed fat and tall. All along it gave promise of great size and large fruit.

"Its height in July was fully 16 inches above the tallest stalk in the field. Its ears were much larger, while the silken tassel was much smaller and lacked the depth of color characteristic of the other plants. I took an ear home to steam and eat. I can tell you that the quality of that corn for eating purposes was excellent. It smacked a little of apple, just the slightest suggestion of it, and not at all disagreeable as one might suppose. The grains were large and juicy. In fact the quality of the corn was far superior to anything I had ever eaten in that line. I am going to repeat the experiment."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Several Coincidences.

While the belief in talismans and omens is confined to the less educated portion of our population, even the most skeptical read with interest coincidences that simpler minds regard as prophecies. President Garfield a few months before his death related to a friend the following incidents:

As General Garfield entered the convention the day of his nomination, a man distributing leaves of the New Testament handed one to him which the engrossed politician folded and put in his pocket. Long after the nomination he took down the suit he had worn that eventful day, and before putting it on proceeded to empty the pockets. He drew out a paper pressed into a narrow fold, one verse only being visible. It was this, "The stone which the builders rejected is become the head of the corner."

Again, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the hour of the nomination in Chicago, an eagle, coming from no one knows where, lighted on General Garfield's house in Washington and sat there several minutes. This occurrence was witnessed by many persons in the capital. —Wide Awake.

Had Been Up All Night.

GLADSTONE, S. D., May 9.—A slight shock of earthquake, accompanied by a loud explosion, was felt here at 5 o'clock this morning. The vibrations lasted several seconds.

Dandruff For Ten Years.

April 20, 1893.

MESSRS. SMITH BROS., FRESNO, Cal.

Gentlemen—After using one bottle of Smith's Dandruff Pomade I am pleased to state that I am entirely cured of dandruff, with which I was troubled for ten years. I have paid out dollar after dollar for remedies recommended to me, but without any permanent effect, and your remedy is the only one that has perfected a cure. I found more benefit from three applications of your remedy than all others combined. I cheerfully recommend it to all having trouble with dandruff, regardless of how many years standing. Yours truly,

J. L. MARBLE, Assistant Postmaster.

A Naturalist and the Snake Charmer.

A story used to be told at Cairo of the late Sir Richard Owen during one of his sojourns in Egypt. The great naturalist was seated in the shade on the veranda at Shoppeard's hotel, as is the postprandial wont of visitors to that famous hostelry, when the inevitable snake charmer came to him and produced from his bag a lively specimen of the horned asp—the deadly cerastes. The professor gazed, and nothing daunted stopped and plucked the horns from the head of the reptile wriggling at his feet, remarking to a bystander that the man would probably think twice before trying to palm off upon any one else a harmless snake as a cerastes by the aid of a couple of fish bones. With anybody else the charmer would probably have succeeded. He had tried it on the wrong man.—London Tit-Bits.

Weapons of a Kindly Woman.

A regard for others' feelings and a gentle though not fulsome flattery that stimulates rather than inflates are the weapons which, when used by a clever, kindly woman, make her a power among any set in which she chooses to move, though never for one moment does she give any evidence that she is aware of the influence she wields through the all conquering scepter of her own gracious womanhood.—Philadelphia Times.
